THE NEW MARK LAW.

This new law, which has been just promulgated, and which we published last month, meets with so much opposition that an effort, we understand, is being made by the Rural Society to get the Government and the Legislature to re-consider it.

There are in the province of B. Aires 60,000 marks registered, whilst in the 13 provinces of the Republic we learn there are 135,000 registered marks, and in the Banda Oriental 70,000. Of course, the new law only dealt with the marks in this province, which for cattle number 60,000. All these marks, to secure the rights of property to their owners, must now be registered, or new marks taken out in their stead, which will, of course, cost the Hacendados millions and millions.

It is, however, rather late now to discuss a measure which has been promulgated as law, and we very much doubt if the Rural Society, influential though its members be, will be able to interfere with the action of the law.

There can be no question that the majority of the cattle marks in use on the estancias are altogether too large, spoiling the hide and unnecessarily hurting the animal. A reform was certainly called for in this respect, but the estancieros will find, to their cost, that the reform is one of the dearest ever attempted in this land of expensive measures. People who bought marks this year find, to their astonishment, that they must buy again next year or lose all claim to their cows.

Mr. Carvalho has laid before the Provincial Minister of Hacienda a new marking system, which seems to us an immense improvement and only open to the objection of expense. By his system the mark indicates a number which is read by a key, and impossible to alter or falsify.

People who have cows and sheep have certainly cares and expenses also; and to alter all the cattle marks in the country, re-register and re-make them, is an expense so enormous that only the Buenos Ayrean estancieros, as a public, could meet such an expensive reform without a grumble.

Owing to the number of new estancias started on the cheap Government lands, the registering of new marks has within the last two years assumed very large proportions; all these new marks are but now so much old iron, and the registry papers that cost $500 m/c cash so much waste paper, which seems hard on those who have just started with cows and mares on lands in the most out of the way districts.

Let us hope that the Rural Society will be able to save the estancieros from such an enormous expense, or at least that another year's time be allowed the estancieros to prepare for the privilege.

LONDON LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

FAIR TRADE.

(Concluded.)

ANSWERS.

4th. Let us admit for the sake of avoiding disputation that the 10 per cent is for fiscal proposes. Our whole imports of manufactures in 1880 were only 52 millions, which at a reasonable specific valuation and deducting extra cost of collection would at most yield from the 10 per cent duty 3 or 4 millions sterling; but as certain goods would be increased in price the consumption would be less of foreign manufactures. How much less we cannot estimate, but it would probably be 20 per cent perhaps 50 per cent which would reduce considerably the produce of the tax to the exchequer; and in the meantime, as every one knows, the loss of trade, freights and auxiliary business by the incidence of that apparently trifling tax of 10 per cent on foreign goods would lead in other ways to indirect losses to the exchequer.

5th. Moreover, it appears that we are to unhinge our whole principle and system of trading for the reason that for certain goods at least, that is for a few goods which the foreigner can make cheaper, the consumer may have to pay a few manufacturers 2½ per cent more or whatever the difference of cost may be, supposing the Bradford people excuse us paying 10 per cent more to the foreigners for the finer or softer goods they only can supply. And be it remembered that in Germany at the present moment, where heavy duties have been placed upon foreign manufactures, the prices of the articles have been raised very much beyond the difference in the cost of production; and that, other things being equal, such is the general tendency of a duty; but it is fair to acknowledge that it would not be so much so in England where the competitions between manufacturers is more keen and on a larger scale.

6th. It is difficult to avoid saying that the statement referred to in this paragraph is a deliberate untruth, in the face of the statistics in everybody's hands, prepared by the head of the statistical department of the Board of Trade, and by other eminent statisticians, all tending to show the enormous improvement in the status of the wage-earning classes by reason of cheaper food and clothing, and in spite of bad harvests and universal bad trade; an improvement which in this country, that from its own natural resources feeds so small a proportion of its inhabitants, must of necessity be due to free trade, onesided or no. It is equally untrue that our agriculture and manufactures languish. Our agriculture is indeed depressed by 7 years unprecedented bad seasons, and it is always hampered by iniquitous land laws; but as for free trade the farmers themselves acknowledge its benefits and scorn protection or the proferred sop from the Manchester spinners of 5s. a quarter duty on corn. There is no better authority on this subject than the greatest practical and experimental farmer of the day Mr. Lawes; and his opinion can be seen in the current number of Land and Water.

7th. We can suppose no such absurdity as a country peopled by 'rentiers.' The fixed incomes like wages and profits come ultimately from the soil, from labour and trade. It is equally absurd to talk of accounting for a balance of trade where there can be no trade at all.

8th. The remark in regard to neutral markets is quite true from the particular or individual manufacturer's point of view; but it amply illustrates the narrowness and egoism which prompt this 'fair trade.' If it were simply question of the 2½ per cent on certain goods, it would be of small consequence to the country at large whether the Frenchman undersold us or not in neutral markets. Can, however, any rational person deny that a duty of 10 per cent on breadstuffs as well as foreign manufacture, would not raise to some extent prices, diminish consumption and not only increase the cost of production, but by the absence of competition deteriorate the quality of the goods and in all ways handicap us in the neutral markets?

9th. Of all the propositions, this is at once the most high sounding, the most redolent of the recent flashy and disgraced imperialism, and the most verdant and ludicrous. It protection, or fair trade—that is simply a system of 'discriminating duties'—is good for us, it is good for the colonies. Just as an Englishman, if he can fill his belly cheaply with bread and meat, will not care much whether they come from Manitoba, Tenessee, Australia or Paisandu; the colonist, with the highest respect for the Empire, will suit himself. Relatively speaking, we do not take much of Australian wool as it is; and if by altering our machinery we chose to take more of it, it might suit the colonists, but if to exclude River Plate wool we have to pay a penny a pound more for the colonial, it would not suit us.

In addition it may be observed that Fair Traders often insidiously allude to a question difficult to answer until it is fairly put out. What they insinuate is this; it is admitted that the foreign trade of Great Britain bears a very small proportion to the home trade; some put it as low as one eighth; but with parasitical and auxiliary trades it may be taken at even one fifth. Therefore we are asked, 'Why not diminish slightly this small proportion, and by removing foreign competition to some extent increase the bulk of your trade—the home trade?'

The fallacy is simply a repetition of the old protectionist, assumption that competition injures trade. It does injure particular trades; on the other hand, how protection may injure particular trades, we have an instance just given by an English shipowner. He said, his vessel lost her stern-post. She was repaired in New York. The cost of repairs was three thousand pounds. They could have been done in Hull, he said, for three hundred pounds! It is not extraordinary the mercantile navy of the United States is swept off the seas; or that compared with England, her foreign trade is insignificant except in breadstuffs for which we can afford to pay and raise our own agriculture and the value of land far beyond what it was forty years ago. The absence of competition is the decay of stimulus. A foreign trade, however small, acts as a safety valve, an issue for surplus commodities and surplus energy. Without it, as land becomes occupied and population increases sooner or later we arrive at that barbaric end of all protectionist countries— a 'stationary state'; and when our harvests fail, we have starvation, crime, and riot as in England fifty years ago. To those horrors Lord Salisbury and a few other gentlemen, for the sake of a particular Social class, would have us return. If the consequences of a sin are any criterion of its heinousness, many a wretch has been strung up for less wickedness.

The Savoie's Mails.

Gibraltar, Oct. 31st.

The reception which the draft bill of the Farmers' Alliance—first discussed, though not first promulgated, at a meeting of that body on the 20th—has met with from the political party from which it has most to hope has not been encouraging. The Radical newspapers have, as in duty bound, abstained from throwing actual cold water on the project, but they have not received it with anything like enthusiasm. To give the sense of the so-called English Land Bill in a few words, it amounts to this—that the choice of tenants shall be taken out of the hands of the landlord; that he shall be absolutely precluded from all control over the management of the land; and, lastly, that all direct and indirect increment of value in consequence of the tenant's improvements—and under the circumstances there could hardly be any other—should go to the tenant and be marketable or assignable by him. The import of this last provision, which is the kernel of whole Bill, is unmistakeable. The landlord has no veto on improments in the first place, and no benefit from them in the second, even though the land to be improved is as essential an element, to say the least, in the improved value as the capital spent on it.

There is continued quiet in Ireland. Even the Dublin roughs make no further sign, and from no other part of the country is there any word of disturbance of any kind. Of outrages, however, we do unfortunately hear. One old man, for instance, has been dragged out of his bed in a house at Millstreet, by men in disguise, who cut off his hair and shaved his whiskers, and then escaped. The enormous sin which he had committed was in allowing his daughter to be married to a man who had been Boycotted. A rick of corn worth £250 has been burned at Clogher. About a dozen additional arrests are announced, most of them being in Roscommon. Many Land League meetings were dispersed in various parts of the country between the 22d and 25 inst.

The following telegram was received this afternoon, dated London 31st, 12.20 p.m.—"M Gambetta has been elected provisional President of the Chamber. The German elections are unfavourable to Prince Bismarck. Government has not secured working majority. Large increase of Socialist voters.] The Archbishop of Dublin strongly condemns the Land League manifesto. The French have entered Kairouan unopposed, the rebels pillaged and retreated South. King Humbert and Queen Margherite arrived at Vienna; enthusiastic reception."

TUDOR, equal in quality and flavour to Teas sold at $30 m|c and $40 m|c lb. Parties who have once tried it take no other. SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Mr. Chamberlain, speaking at Liverpool on the night of the 30th, on the occasion of the annual meeting of the National Liberal Federation, dwelt at length on the condition of Ireland. He asserted that the objects of the League, as at first avowed, were praiseworthy; but they developed and changed since the Land Act had passed, the new policy being the independence of Ireland, which Mr. Chamberlain said that, Radical as he was, he could not countenance. The necessity for coercion, though odious to him existed, but he was only content to regard it as a temporary expedient.

Some further arrests are reported in Ireland. For the first time we have to include a lady among the number, a Miss Hodnett, whose father is already in gaol, and who persisted, in spite of warning, in displaying the 'No Rent' manifesto in her window. She is not to be treated as a suspect, but has been formally charged before a magistrate.

THE CASCO TESTIMONIAL.

The presentation of an address, accompanied by a Sword of Honour, to the Chief of Police of Monte Caseros, Corrientes, took place on the 11th inst. in that town, which is the terminus of the trunk line of the E. Argentine Railway from Concordia.

It will be remembered that Comandante Casco displayed most remarkable energy and perseverance in effecting the capture of the murderers of poor Macdonald and Guthrie, who were barbarously slaughtered near Naranjito (Corrientes), by scoundrels to whom they had extended every hospitality. In fact, Guthrie was in the act of making a couch for one of his guests, when treacherously seized by them and butchered.

Entirely owing to Coman. Casco's exceptional acquaintance with the people and locality, and to his indefatigable activity, the criminals were all taken, and two await their trial in Goya prison.

It was thought that the zeal of Comandante Casco deserved some recognition on the part of the fellow-countrymen of the victims, and a sufficient sum having been collected, it was decided that the testimonial should take the form of a sword of honour and a framed address.

Through the courtesy of the E. Argentine Railway, a saloon carriage was placed at the disposal of the gentlemen delegated to make the presentation.

On rearhing Monte Caseros the station was found to be profusely decorated with flags and flowers. Some scores of chairs were ranged in a semi-circle, and in the centre stood a table with blue and white cover, on which rested the address and sword. The background was draped with flags of different nations, the Argentine and English being gracefully entwined.

The President of the Commission addressed the Chief in a few well-chosen words, after which the memorial was read by another of the deputation. It ran thus:—

> Los abajo firmados haciendose interpretes de los sentimientos de la colonia Inglesa tienen el honor de manifestar a Vd. su sincera gratitud por la actividad patriotica y humanitaria que ha desplegado al contribuir personalmente a la captura de los asesinos de nuestros malogrados compratiotas Mac Donald y Guthrie. Al darle este simple testimonio desearíamos lo considerara como una prueba de nuestro profundo aprecio.

Mr Casco, after girding on the weapon, responded in a frank soldierly manner, terminating by expressing a pious hope that he might never have occasion to unsheathe the sword, but swearing on its hilt that should he be compelled to draw it for country and justice, it should not be restored to a dishonoured scabbard. The sword, which was a very handsome one, bore this inscription

> "J. M. Casco
> La comunidad Inglesa agradecida, Abril de 1880."

Nearly all the society of Caseros had responded to the invitation of the English Committee, and during the stay of the latter numerous speeches were delivered and the 'vivas' were incessant, winding up with a genuine British hip-hip hurrah for 'The Queen' led off by Comt. Casco as the Commission steamed away on their return journey. Refreshments were bountifully dispensed amongst the guests; and it was gratifying to note that many of the speakers made pleasing allusion as to the services of the British in the Peninsular War, and to the assistance of Great Britain in the struggle for Independence of the South American States.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The cry is 'still they come.' The French steamer Savoie has brought 710 emigrants, and the telegrams say that the new steamer Navarre left Marseilles on the 16th ult. with 2000. This beats anything yet, and will put Mr Navarro to the best pin in his collar to provide for them. The news is rather important. The reported plot against Mr Gladstone is contradicted, but, to counter-balance this good news, another Maori rising in New Zealand is feared. The French have still as much as they can do in Tunis and are sending 15,000 more men. Germany is thinking of canalizing the Rhine, to make Cologne a sea port. Poor Holland!

We deeply regret to announce the demise of Miss Cooper, eldest daughter of the popular Manager of the Southern Railway. The lamented young lady was only 15 years of age and had but recently arrived from England in very delicate health. The funeral took place yesterday at the British Cemetery, and was very largely attended. The Revd. Dr Smith M, A. M. D. read the beautiful burial service of the Church of England in a most impressive manner.

We have been officially requested to contradict the statement that a woman of the Welsh Colony at Chubut, who was arrested 18 months ago and brought here on a charge of killing her husband, has not yet had a trial. She was released on the 5th inst, and is now back in the colony.

The French mail steamer Gironde sailed yesterday. The weather was blazing hot, and, between parting tears and perspiration the call for 'cambrics' and 'silks' (we saw a few red 'cottons' also) was something quite unusual. The Gironde will enter Pauillac on Christmas Eve.

We return our best thanks to the Committee of the Chascomus Amateur Dramatic Society for their kind invitation to their coming entertainment on the 2nd inst. We regret much that we cannot have the great pleasure of accepting it. On the evening when they will 'strut their hour on the stage,' to the delight of an appreciative audience, we expect to sleep for the first time in our 'rancho' on the breezy shores of San Blas Bay. However, our kind dramatic friends in Chascomus have our best wishes for their success and enjoyment on the evening in question.

The telegrams from Montevideo yesterday announce a gas difficulty down there. Some good natured Paul Pry has 'denounced' the Gas Company to the Government as liable to pay taxes on £500,000 stg, whereas the returns of its taxable estate sent in by the Company only amount to 900,000 pats. It appears that Paul Pry will get 40,000 pats for ferretting out this little business, that is should he prove right, which is by no means certain. In any case Paul's motives can hardly be styled disinterested, and so are open to suspicion. This affair smacks of the recent 'unpleasantness' at Concordia, which seems to have dropped out of sight suddenly. Perhaps it has been amicably settled.

They have got a Fire Brigade (volunteers) in Rosario now, and an engine that throws water 60 feet high. What are the odds that at the first fire they are called to they wont have a drop of water?

There will be a grand charitable 'fete champetre' in Saavedra Park on Sunday next, and all the pretty girls in Belgrano (and there are lots of them there) will be present. All sorts of amusement will be provided, and bachelors with full pockets are pretty certain to have them emptied.

A Mammoth Hotel on the American plan is about to be built at Tandil, to be ready by the time the Southern Railway reaches that place. Tandil is a most picturesque spot, with hill and dale to delight the eyes of Buenos Aireans accustomed to the monotonous flatness of this part of the province. Still, we back Bahia Blanca and its sea bathing to carry all before it in the way of a healthy summer resort. An American hotel there also would pay splendidly.

The sad murder of our unfortunate countrymen, the late Messrs. Guthrie and McDonald, is again brought before the public by the report of the Casco Fund which we publish in another column. Are their murderers still in jail, or is there the faintest chance of justice being done? We greatly fear not. This, however, does not detract from the merit of Gefe Politico Casco, who did his duty in a manner well worthy of imitation in higher quarters, and who deserves the mark of approval which the Fund has been raised to bestow on him. We hear something of a 'man at Caseros' who has snipped no less than $40 fts off the Fund by exorbitant charges for beer, &c, supplied without the Committee's knowledge. There is a considerable assuaging of thirst in $40 fts. Such a 'getting up stairs'—we mean, such a swilling of beer we ne'er did see: but the weather is hot up there.

Our colleague L'Union Francaise of yesterday contains two long and interesting articles on the prolongation of the Southern Railway to Bahia Blanca, and pointing to the admirable position of that town and the great future in store for it. The Provincial Chamber of Deputies has approved of the agreement made between the Governor of the Province and Mr Parish.

The Coloseum was crammed on Wednesday night on the occasion of the distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Greek College for Young Ladies. Miss Emilia Carra carried off all the principal prizes, and therefore now enjoys the illustrious title of Queen of the College. The pupils gave many and varied proofs of the sound instruction they have received and we warmly congratulate Miss Colclough on the efficiency of the pupils confided to her care. We venture to observe that in our opinion the pieces recited were unreasonably long, and some of the young ladies seemed to become quite hoarse before finishing their tasks; the public too prefer something short and sweet to a long rigmarole speech or song. The ceremony ended at 12 p.m. by the delivery of the prizes, which were as beautiful as the young ladies themselves.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals is now finally organized as follows, and we trust it will set to work vigorously at once, without fear or favour, and soon rid Buenos Aires of the shameful reproach of being a hell upon earth for dumb brutes, through man's abominable treatment of them:—

Our turfete friends are already looking forward to the Lujan Races on the 8th prox, and betting has commenced.

The Maua Dock in Montevideo is in trouble; Embarged, as also 200,000 National dollars which the Government owes it.

The news from Peru is truly tremendous, Pierola and General Caceros have effected a junction of their forces at Malucana, within five hours of Lima by rail. They have 5000 men. Has the Ten Cents War to be fought all over again? President Calderon managed to issue a proclamation to his countrymen before he was arrested and sent to Valparaiso. He says that the Chilians have treated him so because he refused to cede a 'pulgada' of Peruvian soil to the conqueror. Poor man. He was hardly married when the Chilians put him in 'quod.' What a honeymoon! Better if he had bolted for Europe, as at first reported.

An ex-captain of Tiros Nationales, who has a cigar shop in Calle Cuyo, won or sold, (all the difference) the big prize in the Uruguay Lottery the other day. If having the ticket on sale, he sold it, he sold himself at the same time; better have been a 'Bull' and bought. Such is that horridan Fortune.

In nothing has this go-head age made greater strides than in preserving and compressing food into a small space. The rapidity of movement which so distinguished the German army in the war with France was due to the fact that they could carry a week's soup and beefsteaks in their waistcoat-pockets, compressed into Meat Pills. This country ought to be the best in the world for meat preserving, and the industry is rapidly spreading. We saw yesterday in Mr. Bennett's well-known emporium at No. 195 Calle de la Florida a Meat Powder prepared by Mr. Frey, of Colon, Entre Rios, which is meeting with great acceptance. A spoonful of it in hot water gives a bowl of delicious nourishing soup, and it is unrivalled for children and invalids who cannot consume solid food. If this country would only try, it could beat the world in such productions, having the 'raw material so cheap.

The Rev. M. P. Ferguson will preach at the Estancia Negrete on Sunday, 4th of December.

The chief news from Montevideo yesterday was that quarantine on vessels from Brazilian ports will be established there on December 1st. Small pox is very bad just now in the sister city.

Colonel Warren, who only recently arrived from England, has gone to Zarate for the purpose of closely examining the port and to report on the advantages it offers as a harbour for torpedo ships.

The cutter Santa Cruz arrived safely at Patagones, and was ordered to leave immediately for San Antonio, to hunt up the Bahia Blanca, which has not been heard of since the last Indian invasion.

After much trouble Juan Villaruel, the bloodthirsty murderer of Mr. Fourtado Castro, of Arrecifes, has been captured. Will he be punished?

Yesterday the cloth manufactory—started with the intention of ruining the dry goods trade—was to be brought to the hammer. We have not heard of the result, but much doubt if any one was found with sufficient courage to make another attempt in that line of industry.

In reference to the recent daring assaults on railway trains in the U. States, in Kansas and other places, a New York colleague makes the following pertinent remarks:—"There would not be so many cases of half-a-dozen desperadoes robbing whole trains full of passengers with impunity, were it not for the fact that the man who has courage enough to face a band of desperadoes never happens to have money enough to make resistance an object. Those who have, find life worth sacrificing a few dollars for."

The gold market for the first time assumed to-day an Oficina de Cambios appearance, and the only sales cash were at 25.05. They say that for the end of the month a very large amount of gold will be bought for delivery, and that except to close the month's liquidation, there will be little demand for gold. On the 1st Dec. paper money will be received at par at the Custom House, and many think that in Dec. gold will not even command 5 cents premium. Total gold sales 103,389 pats of which 17000 for cash.

Cedulas ruled stronger and closed at 99 cash, the stock for end of month is much firmer than yesterday.

Nat. Bank shares were pressed by the bears, and kept from rising; prices for cash opened at 105½, and closed at ½ only 23l sold cash. For end of month 4650 sold, opening at 106½, dropping to 105½, and closing at 106 For Dec. 1300 sold, opening at 108½, and closing at 107½.

Old Gas Co. Shares—

At afterhours things ruled dull enough; the great heat, and the widespread effort to hold in the share market until certain parties have had time to arrange everything, tended to make the afternoon quiet enough. Possibly 3000 shares bought and sold at tottering prices, begining at 105½, and shaking down to 105 sellers. Cedulas hard as a nut, and people offering to buy for 30th. Gold offering freely for end of month at 25.10, but buyers only offer 5 cents, something closed for the end of the month at 25 05.

The purchase of 8 sq. leagues at Italo by an English buyer at 50,000 m|c per league is reported; and the starting of a new Scotch Sugar Mill Company in Tucuman also reported, the country grows.

At the Municipality to-day the case of the 'improved' Mouse at the Boca was brought up. It seems that so far back as last May it was ordered to be pulled down, as the 'tirantes' are rotten, and the place is in great danger, the owner had due notice of the order, and the Municipality at the request of the neighbours had the place levelled

The Gironde cleared to-day taking a very large mail, the exchange done for this packet was very large, one broker passed 2,400,000 francs, and others also passed large amounts.

The following is a condensed extract from the Report of the Finance Committee of the Senate on the Bill for the conversion of the National Debts:—

The Committee recommend the sanctioning of the Bill, and concur with the Executive that the Nation has undeniably the right to amortise all its debts, basing its right on precedents shown by some of the leading nations. The majority of the loans have been launched with the stipulation that the amorization is to be paid at par. The price of emission has always been with a discount of from 10 to 25 o/o. As long as the loans were quoted below par no one disputed the right of the Government to pay then off at par, but the difficulty arises when the loans are at a premium. If the loans have risen to be quoted with premiums, it is entirely due to the sacrifices made by the Nation to preserve its credit, and to the general development of the resources of the country. It is inadmissible that a nation whose credit has risen in proportion to its efforts should not be the first to profit by it. The Nation has bound itself to pay at last a specified sum within a cer ain number of years according to the amortization which is agreed to, and therefore is at liberty to pay off the debt at any period it can command funds for the purpose within the determined time. The prosperity of the Nation has risen its loans to par, and in some cases to a premium. The interest at the rate of 6o|o is too high for a country enjoying such good credit. The following figures shew the present indebtedness of the Nation, and the saving obtained by the proposed loan for conversion:—

Total amount of loans which are to be converted	$F 79.148,547
Present service of above	8.570,470
" " of 100 millions at 5 per cent interest and 1 per cent amortization	6.000,000
Service of $F 79.148,547 when converted	4.846,000
Reduction in the budget	3.144,000
Amount saved in the 37 years.	42.978,700

The commission also recommends that after converting the loans, the money remaining over be entrusted to the Executive for the purpose of prolonging the National Railways.

When the ring was formed this morning all eyes were turned to the glass roof, some facetious brokers having pointed to what he said were National Bank Shares on the roof. Of course there were numbers who did not understand the joke, and the affair gave rise to laughter. The heat on the Bolsa at 1 o'clock was very great, and had the Secretary of the Camara brought down his subscription book every man at the ring would have subscribed for shares in the new Bolsa; as it is plainly evident what with the tremendous speculation going on in Bank Shares and the increasing number of new brokers and socios the old Bolsa is to, use Mr Lysandro Billinghurst's term, broaching on a cabellerias.

The National Government has received advices from the Misiones cat trated to alarm the new sugar planters up there. A Correntine caudillo with a band of 'gauchos' is prowling about Santo Tome, much to the annoyance of the people of that town. To-day the Government sent telegrams to the officers in command in Corrientes and Entre Rios, to look up these 'gauchos malos.'

Mr Whelan's wool from Rodriguez was in the market to-day, and, as usual, attracted much attention. Some say that it is the best wool that comes into the Plaza Once; showing what good care does. If all the farmers took as great care as Mr Whelan in the get up of his wool, what a difference would there not be in our wool export.

The report of the B. Aires Great Southern Railway give the following about the traffic:

"The gross receipts for goods, including animals and vehicles, amount to £174,758, as compared with £166,739 in the corresponding half year of 1880. The weight of goods carried has been 87,326 tons, against 78,860, excluding in each period the traffic carried on the Company's general revenue account, but including both tonnage and receipts for Ayacucho materials, which in 1880 amounted respectively to 17,026 tons and £24,541, against 3,949 tons and £4,969 in the past half year.

"The comparison, therefore, of commercial traffic shews an increase of 22,192 tons in weight and £10,399 in receipts. The increased tonnage results partly from the greater length of line open, and partly from the wool season of 1880|1 being disproportionately divided in favour of the past half year. The percentage of increase in the receipts, 30·72 o|o, is the result of the greater average distance that cargo has been carried.

"Wool and Hair—The increase is 5,917 tons in weight and £16,797 in money. This is, as already explained, chiefly caused by the late wool season. In the later months of 1880 the wool was held back, owing to a fall in value, and hence the increased quantity carried in the past six months.

"The extension of 80 miles across the Vecino, a marshy river, always difficult to cross in bad weather, and sometimes impossible, has no doubt had the effect of increasing our tonnage, and this, with the longer distances, has increased our receipts as shown notwithstanding the fact that our rates have been 12½ o|o lower than in the corresponding period of 1880.

"Grease and Tallow—As usual we have to note a decrease in this traffic, and it has now become almost too trifling to merit any reference to it, especially as there is no apparent prospect of improvement

"Hides and Skins shew an increase of 11.92 per cent in weight, and a decrease of 16.70 per cent in money. The additional weight, which is all in skins, is attributable to the comparison being with the revolution time last year. The decrease in receipts results from lower rates and from the fact that skins do not pay us as well as hides.

"Grain and Hay—This traffic shews a satisfactory increase of 33.06 o|o in weight, and 48.73 o|o in receipts. The same rates ruled during both half years.

"The hay shews a considerable falling off, and as the rates for this article are lower than those for grain, the rate of increase of money being greater than that of tonnage is thus partly explained; but the chief reason is doubtless the increased mileage over which the traffic has been carried. Of the 3,361 tons of grain, representing the increased tonnage, 1,640 tons came from other lines—434 tons from Burzaco, Glew, and San Vicente, and 1,092 tons from Azul. The Azul increase is almost all in wheat. In the first half of 1880 we carried 465 tons of wheat from this station, and in the past half year 1,556 tons. This illustrates the progress of the agricultural settlements established in the neighbourhood of Olavarria.

"Fencing Posts—In the first half of the year 1879 the number of posts carried was 268,689; in 1880, 196,261; and in the half year last, 312,686. The money value has increased from £5,296 in 1880 to £10,463 in 1881. In this case the receipts are improved by the greater average mileage over which the traffic has been carried. An increased number of the larger kinds of posts have been transported, and the reduction of 10 o|o in the rates has doubtless encouraged the business. At the time of writing there is a lull in this branch of traffic, but there is every prospect of further improvement. Some who intend fencing their land are holding back in the hope of a reduction of rates, commensurate to the improved value of the paper dollar

"General Goods—Fencing posts, which used to be included under this heading, are now shown separately, and this must be borne in mind in making comparisons with former periods. The increase in general goods proper is 10,542 tons in weight, and £7,300 in money—say 36·07 o|o and 29·80 o|o respectively. The rates in force have been about 6 o|o lower than in 1880. General progress and the stoppage of business during the revolution time in 1880 will account for the improved results.

"Animals—The increased number carried is 23,170, classified as follows:—say, horses, 558; horned cattle, 131; sheep, 22,655. Pigs shew a decrease of 274. The figures with which we compare were unusually low, and notwithstanding the increase now exhibited the traffic is much less than in 1879. This is to be accounted for by the fact that sheep which used to come over the line to town are now taken Southwards to stock the new settlements. And in addition, the weather has been very favorable for animals travelling over the camps on foot."

We extract from the American papers, received by the mail, the following:—

"Bremen has now the largest trade in rice of any European port. The imports during the year ending July 31st, 1881, amounted to 121,760 tons, while London imported 116,092,

Liverpool	102,531
Hamburg	33,483
Copenhagen	8,661
Flensburg	4,738
Triest	4,399 tons.

The imports into Holland were 91,157 tons

Belgium	38,268
France	14,695
Italy	11,331 tons.

It will thus be seen that England, with its 240,000 tons, consumes as much rice as almost all the rest of Europe. This may be considered a proof of the comparative wealth of the people, as rice pudding with punch sauce may be justly considered one of the little luxuries. Strange to say that rice plain is, on the other hand, the staple food of the poorest classes of all the Oriental nations.

"The German petroleum rage:—The latest German papers, we observe, are full of new oil enterprises. It is now reported that Erlanger & Sons have secured the rights of some 3,400 morgen of land near Oelheim. The Berlin Boersen Courier and other organs belonging to the Bourse Ring are representing the new fields as something extraordinary. There is no doubt but that capital and skill are now about to be largely invested in the oil districts in Hanover, but whether the popular expectations in regard to them are going to be fulfilled is another question. It is evident that some new outlets are needed in Europe for the existing plethora of capital, and that when interest is low all kinds of speculative enterprises are as eagerly seized by Germans as by our own less phlegmatic people."

NEW PHASES OF IMMIGRATION.

The following article, which we find in a New York paper, will be read with interest by many in the Plate :—

The immense immigration at this port within the past day or two has overflowed the ordinary limits of Castle Garden and the Battery, into lower Broadway. In the vicinity of the 'Bulletin' office, one morning this week, that great thoroughfare resembled Hamburg, Bremen or Copenhagen, or an Italian rather than an American city. Teutons and Scandinavians literally had possession of the sidewalks, and almost as many languages were heard as at the building of Babel. An unusual feature was the very large proportion of elderly women and little children, in family groups. Among this multitude were comparatively few from the British isles; the great majority being Germans, Swiss, Italians, Swedes, Danes and Norwegians. There could be no mistaking their robust physique—thoroughly seasoned, as their bronzed, weather-beaten faces betokened, by hard out-door work at home; but withal there was an air of dejection, if not sadness, about them that seemed to reflect the influences of long years of grinding toil and bondage in countries where the industrial population are the merest hewers of wood and drawers of water for their rulers. Men and women alike had sombre countenances, and the little ones by their side had a prematurely old aspect, unrelieved by anything approaching the childish glee which new sights and scenes ordinarily are apt to incite Nevertheless, the great West, whither they are all bound, cannot have a more valuable nor a more opportune acquisition to its industrial forces, and it will not be long before the fact is made apparent in the increase of every form of its material wealth.

The State Department, with the aid of some recently received reports from our consular agents at the Continental ports, has thrown some light upon the peculiar character of this season's emigration. A prominent official of the Kingdom of Wurtemberg is reported as declaring that those who are emigrating are the tillers in the fields and vineyards—men who are necessarily the largest contributors to agricultural welfare, and who have generally some mechanical skill as well. In fact, they compose the element which Germany just now can least afford to lose. The substraction of these people from the country, or agricultural districts, will be much more felt than would the drawing off of a corresponding number of the population from the cities, which are comparatively overcrowded, and where the unemployed and criminal classes are generally found. As to the allegation sometimes made, that the latter are largely represented in the exodus to America, there would seem to be really no proof whatever to sustain it. It is of course impossible for the emigrant agents to make thorough inquiry into the antecedents of every one of the many thousands intending to emigrate. But there is no organized movement, either on the part of local, county, or town authorities, or of any philanthropic association, to send such persons to the United States. A general belief exists that, even if sent thither, they would not be permitted to land, and the effect of this conviction is to keep the 'dangerous classes' at home. Many of the emigrants that left the country in the earlier part of the season were small farmers who had disposed of their estates on the best terms they could obtain; and, adds our informant, 'there are many others in the same category who are preparing to follow their example.' Respecting the future movement, all accounts agree that the number of persons emigrating this year from the empire will be in excess of that of any previous season. Says our Consul at Baden:

'Nor can it be doubted that such will be the fact when the crowds of emigrants are beheld that daily fill the railroad stations here from which the trains depart for Bremen and Hamburg. As long ago as last December, their passages have been secured, and for months to come, it is reported, all available places on Bremen and Hamburg steamers are engaged. Nor do the apparent efforts made on the part of the authorities everywhere to stem the tide avail: 'The cry is, still they come.'

Our Consul at Bremen, writing on the same subject says:

"The emigrants this year are, without exception, of the best agricultural and industrial classes, taking money with them, the saving of years, the proceeds of their little tenements sold here, etc. My own inquiry and observation confirm the truth of the statements of the German journals, that Germany has never before lost such numbers of worthy and industrious people as are now emigrating to the U.States, and that the loss to the German Empire can scarcely be overestimated. It should be remembered, too, that the loss which the departure of these emigrants occasions to their native country is not to be computed merely by the lack of manual labor it causes in the agricultural regions. Were this the only evil, it might be looked upon as a temporary and remedial one. But when we come to consider that, according to the most eminent German statisticians, every member of society who has attained his 15th year, or a self-supporting age, represents, in the money already spent on his support and education, a sum equal to about $500, the question at once assumes a practical pecuniary interest—for, at that rate of calculation, Wurtemberg has contributed during the year 1880 alone the snug sum of $4,500,000 towards the extinguishment of our national debt. But this estimate seems to me entirely too low. If, in the days of negro slavery, an average ignorant field hand was worth $500, how incalculably more valuable, in the pecuniary, moral and intellectual scale, is the free white emigrant, with strong arms, an educated mind, and a spirit imbued with principles of freedom, who comes to our shores, bringing his all with him, to do battle with fortune."

With a prospect like this before them, it would not be surprising if the German Government, like that of Sweden, should resort to some means for imposing at least such restraints upon the exodus as will not impair the efficiency of their huge military establishments. There are many difficulties in the way of this, however. Even the restrictions existing at the German ports of embarkation, Hamburg and Bremen, we are assured, are rendered fruitless by the fact that any German wishing to emigrate to America can easily avoid them by passing over into Belgium or Holland and taking steamer at Antwerp or Rotterdam. On the French frontier, the passport regulations are enforced with a somewhat greater show of vigor, so that but few emigrants from Germany leave by way of Havre or other ports in France. Most of those leaving covertly go by way of one or the other of the two non-German ports previously mentioned. If Prince Bismarck thinks it is possible to arrest the movement, therefore, clearly, he will have to invent some new device which neither the one man power nor the man-on-horseback has yet thought of.

A NEW TELEPHONE.

A paper 'On the Conversion of Radiant Energy into Sonorous Vibrations' was read before the Royal Society last week by Mr W H Preece, the electrician of the Post Office. The remarkable discovery of Messrs. Graham Bell and Sumner Tainter that the rapid intermittent incidence of rays of light on discs of hard substances produces sonorous vibrations has attracted very much attention and has excited much physical work to solve an unexpected problem. The advocates of the emission theory of light have striven for 200 years to obtain such a proof of their theory and have failed. Why have Bell and Tainter succeeded, or have they succeeded at all? May not their phenomena be due to some other cause than the incidence of light? It was suspected by many that it was a heat effect, and not a light one at all. M. Mercadier, in Paris (Comptes Rendus, Dec. 6, 1880), and Professor Tyndall (Proc. R S. Jan. 3, 1881) have placed this beyond the region of doubt, and now Mr Preece has completed the chain of evidence by a careful and elaborate inquiry into the cause of the phenomena. In the first part of his paper he has shown that ebonite and indiarubber though opaque to the light rays, are remarkably diathermanous or transparent to the heat rays, and therefore that radiant heat can act through screens of those materials. Indeed, ebonite is shown to be almost perfectly transparent to radiant heat, while it is absolutely impervious to light. He next shows by experiments made on very delicate apparatus that no more vibrations than six per second can possibly be produced by the direct impact of heat waves causing expansion of the mass of the disc, and therefore that the Bell-Tainter effect is not due to the absorption of heat changing the volume of the hard substance experimented upon. He next inquires whether the effect observed is due to a molecular pressure similar to that which produces the rotation of a radiometer, for this being a mere surface action, the element of time is eliminated. Many experiments are described which were with discs of various kinds in different ways, but the results were so unsatisfactory and variable that the question was raised whether the discs vibrated at all. By the aid of microphones and specially constructed chambers, it is proved clearly that the undulations are those of the contained air, and not of the discs. In fact, the sounds were intensified by removing the discs. Moreover, the effects were materially assisted by coating the sides of the containing vessel with a substance highly absorbent to heat, such as the carbon deposited by burning camphor. It is next shown that the effects are dependent on the number of heat rays that pass through the discs, and not on those that incident on them, and that the greater the absorbent character of the air or vapour contained in this case, the more intense the sounds emitted. All these results are repeated and shown with ordinary flasks lampblacked on their interior and exterior. Finally it is shown that there is a time element introduced, and that the loudness of the note emitted depends not only on the rapidity with which the contained air absorbs the radiant energy, but also on the rapidity with which it gives up its heat to the sides of the case and the exits open to it. It varies also with the form of the enclosed space and with the character of the contained vapour, and with the diathermancy only of the discs. The effect being thus due to radiant heat and its absorption by suitable surfaces it was next shown that if a spiral of wire be completely enclosed in a lampblacked case, sounds were emitted when currents of electricity were rapidly and intermittently transmitted through the wire, and, moreover, that when these currents were produced by a proper microphone transmitter articulate speech was reproduced. Hence these phenomena are simply effects of radiant heat, and they are due to the changes of volume in absorbent gases and vapours produced by the absorption of thermometric heat in a confined space. All the varied and novel experiments which Mr Graham Bell performed when he was recently in Europe with solids liquids, and gases, with tubes, flasks and discs are thus brought within one simple explanation, and are due to a remarkable influence of degraded heat rays on absorbent vapours. The final result of this inquiry has been, not only to unravel an exceedingly interesting scientific problem, but to produce another form of telephone based on a new principle.

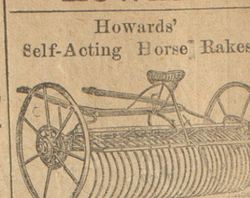
HOWARD'S CELEBRATED MACHINES

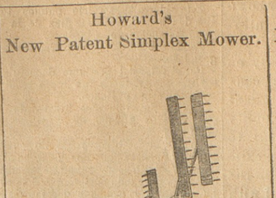
Howards' Self-Acting Horse Rakes.



The above were the first Self-acting Horse Rakes which secured public favour, and owing to their extraordinary success various attempts have been made to imitate them, but J. & F. Howard's simple brake principle—Patented—is so instantaneous in action, that all the contrivances introduced by others for effecting the same object are in comparison but complicated expedients.

OO, 18 teeth, 42 in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 5½ cwt.
OO, 28 teeth, 42in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 6½ cwt.
OOO, 28 teeth, 46in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 6½ cwt.
OOO, 22 teeth, 46 in wrought wheels, 10 feet wide, weight 6½ cwt.
OOOO, 28 teeth, 52 in. wrought wheels, 8½ feet wide, weight 5½ cwt.
OOOO, 22 teeth, 52in. wrought wheels, 10 feet wide, weight 6 cwt.

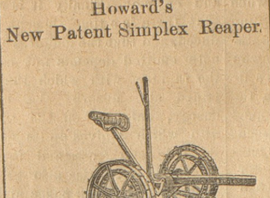
Howard's New Patent Simplex Mower.



J. & F. Howard's Simplex Mower is one of the lightest machines ever produced. It is from its construction remarkably strong, and has been found to be capable not only of cutting the heaviest crops, but of standing the roughest usage. J. & F. Howard's patented principle of open gearing is adopted. This gearing, among other advantages, is light in weight, of great strength, and not liable, as other gearing, to get clogged with the cut grass, there being no cogs to catch it, and no shield therefore is required.

With two Knives, Spring Seat, and Tool Box, containing all requisites for use in the field, weight 6 cwt.

Howard's New Patent Simplex Reaper.



J. & F. Howard's Simplex Reaper is in every way constructed to meet the demand for a light, but strong Reaper. It has a large travelling wheel, and having the fewest possible wearing parts, its value, especially where repairs are difficult to execute, can hardly be overstated. The experience of several harvests with large numbers of these Machines, both at home and abroad, and the distinguished place they have obtained in public trial fields, have fully demonstrated their superiority.

With two Knives, Seat and Tool Box, containing all requisites for use in the field, weight 10½ cwt

AS SURE AS EGGS ARE EGGS.—An American Editor declares that 'out West' eggs are fetching two-pence each, and that the hens do not care about business even at this price. We fancy this must be very far 'West,' or surely our American cousins would ere this have resorted to the use of 'Borwick's Gold Medal Custard Powder,' which renders the housewife perfectly independent of the domestic fowl, since it produces the most delicious custards, blanc-manges, &c., at half the usual cost, and in much less time. The hens had better be 'cautious about striking,' or some enterprising storekeeper will introduce this household boon, and ruin their trade for ever. There is no special 'laying season' for 'Borwick's Custard Powder,'—one can keep it always on hand in the neat little packets and tins in which it is sold. Can be had of all Storekeepers in the Colonies.—Civilian.
